IN THE NEWS: Deana Butcher, 4509 S. Parkhill, teaches Communication Arts at Kickapoo High School. In December she was awarded Springfield Public Schools' Fall 2010 Starcatcher Award. This award honors the district's most innovative staff member. She was nominated by Kickapoo's principal who praised her rigorous method of teaching and high expectations of students. Her husband, Michael, is the drama teacher at Kickapoo and they have three children. Congratulations to Mrs. Butcher for a job well done and receiving the award.

VANDALISM: During December a car window was broken and about 200 CDs stolen at 1214 Cardinal. Also, their neighbor's pickup was vandalized. The police were called and they filed a report but did not come and investigate. The law enforcement person taking the call said that this is the time of year that more crime of this sort take place. It is important that articles of value be removed from vehicles parked outside. Our neighborhood watch program encourages us all to be on the lookout for possible criminal activity happening in our area and to call 911 or do a report on our website, www.qcpoa.com.

AFGHANISTAN: Donald and Diane Martin's (1214 Cardinal) son, Timothy, was badly injured last July when a vehicle with five soldiers exploded. Four were killed. The Army flew the family to Germany to be with him during extensive surgery. He spent several months in rehab and is still undergoing treatment at the San Antonio Medical Center. The war becomes closer when a neighbor's son is harmed.

CONGRATULATIONS: Harold and Pauline Lankford, 1164 W. Rockhill, recently celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary.
