

Quail Creek Newsletter

October – November, 2011

Grounds Committee: They report that the irrigation system, fountain and pavilion water is off and winterized. They added more waterproof paint to bricks on the fountain and a clear sealer to the front. Sealer was also applied to the floor of the bridge and flower boxes. Cracks in the parking lot have been patched, and pool/pavilion furniture stored away for the winter. Thanks to our Grounds Committee members we are in good shape and ready for snow..... The volunteer work of our homeowners save the subdivision a lot of money!

Board of Directors: Bids are being sought for the establishment of security cameras and for the repair and maintenance of the pool next spring. "No Solicitation" signs are being planned at the subdivision entrance. Membership dues were set at the November 7 meeting at $360 for next year, the same amount they have been for the last three years. Our Annual meeting date will be Monday, February 27, 2012, at the Library Center. It isn't too early to place it on your calendar.

Condolences: Our friend and neighbor, Mason Nichols, 4637 Quail Creek, passed away October 25, 2011. Our sympathy to his wife, Rose, and family. He did a lot for our subdivision serving as president of the board of directors, grounds committee, and flowerbed committee. Being a veteran and critically wounded in the Korean War, he played a role in establishing the fountain flag pole and spoke at its dedication to all Quail Creek veterans in July 2003. No one could tell a joke like Mason. We will miss him.

Christmas Decorating: We all enjoy seeing Christmas spirit demonstrated at our beautifully decorated pavilion. Come and help with the decorating on Saturday, November 26, at 1:00 p.m. Also, start planning to participate in our Annual Home Christmas Decorating Contest. A ballot to vote for your favorites will be in the December newsletter.

Bridge Lessons: Beginning bridge lessons for all Quail Creek residents are starting now. Call Sarah, 882-370
